Wilson's Body to Lie in Crypt on Cathedral Site

Will Be Taken There For Services at 3:30 Following Funeral at Residence, With All Possible Simplicity.

BUSINESS TO SUSPEND

Senate Already in Adjournment and All Government Departments Close at 12:30 Wednesday.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Woodrow Wilson is to be buried tomorrow exactly as he himself wished—as a private citizen, for whom there should be no ostentation, no pompous display of national sorrow, no state or public ceremonies.

Members of his family made known this wish of the former president today in meeting objections raised in some quarters of the essentially private nature of the final obsequies with which his war-wrecked body will be consigned tomorrow to the keeping of time.

"It was his wish," they said. And before this unanswerable argument all objections melted away and the voice of a public and a government anxious to do him homage was stilled.

President Coolidge today ordered all government departments to cease work at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow out of respect for Mr. Wilson.

Under a law of 1893 the executive is prohibited from issuing an order closing the departments for an entire day in honor of any former government official.

The White House announcement said: "The president has directed that after the hour of 12:30 p. m. Wednesday that no work be required in the departments."

One of the few public events in which Mr. Wilson participated after his retirement from the White House was the funeral of the unknown soldier, who was buried in Arlington National Cemetery with all the pomp and splendor of a grateful nation was capable of rendering to its great Mr. Wilson was deeply impressed. He thought that it was fitting that the symbolic figure of America's heroic dead should be so honored.

But at the same time he is said to have expressed a wish that when his time came he would be buried simply as a private citizen, mourned by his friends. A veteran of the war, perhaps still a private citizen, no different from the thousands of other war veterans who have found their final resting place in the home soil.

And so, tomorrow, America's best known soldier will be delivered to Time's soldier with only the simplest and most unostentatious of ceremonies.

But even his own wishes and those of his family cannot entirely shut out the nation's sorrow that is felt at Woodrow Wilson's passing from the stage of world affairs. It is true, he will be buried as he wished as a private citizen, but it will be as the most distinguished private citizen in America. Thousands of his friends and followers will line the streets that lead from his modest home to the heights of Mount St. Albans; where in the towering National Cathedral his body will be laid away to its well-earned rest. Other thousands will crowd the cathedral grounds to hear the brief, simple services. The commerce of the city will be stilled and the business of government suspended while his remains are removed from the red brick house where he found the comfort and seclusion that were denied him in higher places. And they will be this not because of any sense of duty, but because they want to be.

The heights of Mount St. Albans, where the body will finally lay, command the city of Washington. From the Wilson home in S street the apex of the National Cathedral looms upon the western sky line, bathed by the sun by day and by night illuminated by the lights that play on it from the surrounding lowlands.

Although himself a Presbyterian, the former president was greatly interested in the cathedral project, which is aimed at providing for Washington what Westminster Abbey is to London.

"This building," he once wrote the Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington, "will not only add to the state's beauty of our national capital, but will provide a center from which I believe the most useful and beneficial work can be done for the uplift of the community and stimulation of the nation."

The cathedral site is on Woodlee road, approximately three miles north and west of the White House and 400 feet above the Potomac. When complete it will have a great central tower that will rise above the dome of the capitol and the Washington monument and will be larger than St. Paul's in London or Notre Dame in Paris. It will have seating space for 5,000 people, and a standing room for 27,000 more.

It was here that Wilson chose to be laid to his last long rest, overlooking the capital, where he labored so long and to such great ends, rather than on the heights of Arlington, where soil has been and probably never will be made sacred and untouchable for the man who wore the uniform of war.

Two Men Are Soon Sentenced

Sheriff and Trooper Sergeant Investigate, Arrest, Arraign and Cause Sentence of William and Melvin Reynolds.

In response to a telephone call from Gardner, Sheriff Herman Wells and Sergeant James Cunningham of the state troopers motored to that town and learned that the school house in District No. 6, had been entered, a window having been broken, also that the residence of Elmer Cooper at Libertyville had been entered. After investigation Sheriff Wells placed William Reynolds and Melvin Reynolds under arrest and arraigned them before Justice of the Peace D. W. Ostrander. They were charged with destruction of property, pleaded guilty and sentenced to serve three months in jail and a fine of $10 imposed on each. Later the jail sentence was suspended.

Young Organist Drew Big Crowd.

So delightful and remarkable was the organ playing by Wallace McElree of New York City, at the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, last, that the church was packed in the evening with those whose friends had told them of the young man's musicalship. The young man, only eighteen years of age and a pupil of J. Warren Andrews of New York, showed marked ability as an organist both in the manual and pedal work and in his registration of the compositions that he played.

D. A. R. Meeting.

The February meeting of Willetts Chapter, D. A. R. will be held on Thursday afternoon at the Chapter House at 3 o'clock. The local board meeting will be at 2 o'clock. During the afternoon, Mrs. Robert Wheeler will read a paper on "The Constitution," and there will be violin solos by Mrs. Cuddeback accompanied by Mrs. William S. Ellinger. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. William H. Van Etten and Mrs. Silas Le Ferre.

New Era League.

The Woman's New Era League of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Terpening at her home, No. 189 Smith avenue. A paper on "Christians Who Count," will be given by Mrs. Donald Leith, and Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen will give readings with musical settings.

Girl Scout Council.

The Ulster County Girl Scout Council held its February meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mark O'Meara on Maiden Lane. It was planned at that time to hold another of the interesting "Get-together" meetings, shortly when it is hoped that every member of the Council will be able to be present.

Arinstein's Conviction Upheld.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The district court of appeals today sustained the conviction of Julius W. "Nicky" Arinstein, of New York, husband of Fanny Brice, the actress, for bringing bonds and securities alleged to have been stolen into the District of Columbia. Arinstein is under five years sentence.

Layman Released.

Peter Layman who was arrested with Charles D. Green in the town of Lloyd on a charge of cruelty to a horse, and held for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Harold Lent at Highland, was released from jail Monday on bail.

Dance at Sawkill.

Wednesday evening at St. Ann's Hall, Sawkill, the regular weekly dance will be held. Peter Bolce's orchestra will supply the music and the ladies of the parish will serve refreshments.

the scores who, as on Sunday and yesterday, chose to stand in the street opposite the house and mutely pay their respects to a departed leader.

All day long there were reverential tributes to Mr. Wilson before the house in which he died. And, as on yesterday messengers came to the crested door laden with messages from all the world, telling of his greatness and the universal esteem in which he was held.

The government's participation in the obsequies probably will be the slightest that has ever been seen in the case of a former president.

The cabinet held a short, perfunctory meeting today, to make definite arrangements. It is unlikely there will be any government dignitaries save the president and Mrs. Coolidge and the chief justice and Mrs. Taft at the home services tomorrow. Very few cards will be issued to the home and these will go principally to personal friends and associates of Mr. Wilson without regard to rank or station in life. Two dozen of these will go to the honorary pall bearers, selected from old friends and members of his war cabinet.

INCUBATOR BABY GAINS ONE POUND

"Yes, sir," remarked little Cornelius, the incubator baby at the Kingston City Hospital, this morning. "You can tell the folks I'm doing finely. Since last you saw me I gained a pound in weight. You might not think it to look at me, but I now tip the scales at three pounds."

"There is one other thing on my mind beside my hair," continued the mite "and that is that I feel I am not old enough to entertain company, and for that reason I have given my nurse positive instructions not to admit visitors."

Nurse and physician in charge of little Cornelius state that the youngster is coming along finely, and expect that he will develop into a normal boy.

Boy Missing With $100,000

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Feb. 5.—Police throughout the east today are keeping a sharp lookout for a 17 year old boy who yesterday disappeared with 105 bonds valued at $100,000, given to him for delivery. The bonds were negotiable.

Herzfeld & Stern, brokers, said the boy had given the name of Jack Lombardi when hired two weeks ago. By inquiring at the employment agency the police learned that the boy had given a fictitious name and address.

A description of the boy and the serial numbers of the bonds have been sent to all banking houses. It is believed the lad will be caught soon as he tries to realize on the bonds.

CLEVELAND HEARS RADIO OF SNOWBOUND TRAIN

By Telegram to The Freeman. Cleveland, Feb. 5.—A sleet storm, said by the United States weather bureau here to be the worst of the season, was sweeping down upon Cleveland and northern Ohio, Chicago and other western cities were almost completely cut off from wire communication with the outside world.

"The Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies reported all Morse wires down, although each had one or more wires working but with almost constant interruptions. The storm, it was said, would be accompanied by a pronounced drop in temperature."

A radio message was picked up here during the night from Waupaca, Wis., telling of a train snowbound and with her passengers in dire straits at Greenbay, Wis. The message said:

"Any station in communication with KYW, Chicago tell them to communicate with WPAH (at Waupaca) on account train there snowbound and people in distress."

RADIO FANS HEAR PLEA FOR SNOWBOUND PASSENGERS

Peter V. O. Barkelew of Willetts avenue sat at his radio set Monday evening at 9:25 o'clock wondering what station to go after next when he heard what sounded like a frantic call for help, station "WPWP," Waupaca, Wis., calling "KYW," Chicago rapidly and incessantly and asking "KYW" to answer at 9:30 o'clock. Mr. Barkelew began to feel for "KYW" on the proper wave length and at 9:35 heard them answer, when a long conversation between the two stations began, "WPWP" asking that officials of the Northwestern Railroad at Chicago be notified that one of their passenger trains was snowbound at Green Bay and that immediate aid for passengers was needed.

The radio message was also picked up at many other points and today's New York papers carry a despatch from Toledo, telling the story.

Mayor Asks Suspension of Business

All Over Kingston Between 8 and 4 O'clock Wednesday Afternoon, Hour of Wilson Funeral Service.

Mayor Morris Block has ordered all of the city departments to suspend business between the hours of 8 and 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when former President Woodrow Wilson's funeral services will be held. The mayor has also requested that all business throughout the city be suspended during that time as a mark of respect to the late president. The action taken by Mayor Block is similar to that being taken throughout the country when the last honors will be paid to the World War president.

To Broadcast Funeral Service

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Feb. 5.—It was announced today that the funeral services for Woodrow Wilson at the Cathedral tomorrow would be broadcast by radio.

Legion Post Mourns Wilson

Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, today issued the following order, mourning the death of former President Wilson, draping its flags and directing its members to suspend work during the hour of the funeral:

General Order No. 1. Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, Department of New York, joins with the whole world in heartfelt grief on the death of ex-President Woodrow Wilson.

We mourn him as a comrade of the World War and with honor as a disabled comrade, for he gave his life for the cause, as the soldier did on the field of battle.

Our late ex-president, Woodrow Wilson, was in true accord and sympathy with the American Legion's work and especially with its endeavors for the disabled veterans. As former members of the country's armed forces, we feel deeply the loss of our former commander-in-chief. To show our feeling of grief and respect, therefore, I, Herman I. DuBois, commander of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, do hereby order and direct that all flags of the post be draped for a period of thirty (30) days. Further, that all members of the post lay aside their work, as a token of reverence and esteem, during the hour which shall hereafter be set for his funeral.

HERMAN I. DU BOIS, Commander. EUGENE B. CAREY, Adjutant.

CITY HALL SLAYER LAYS UP ART RICE

City Marshal Arthur Rice is confined to his home on West Pierpont street with an injured foot the result of running a splinter from the flooring in the city court room at the city hall in his foot. The city marshal was walking across the floor of the court room when a splinter from one of the floor boards pierced the sole of his shoe. The wound became infected and it was found necessary to have a physician make an incision in the foot to remove the piece of wood. The city marshal will be confined to his home for several days at least.

Bank Furnace Overdid Things

Got So Hot Fire Department Was Called Out And Drew Fire—No Damage Done.

While Special Officer George DeGraff, who is night watchman for uptown merchants and banking institutions, was in the Ulster County Savings Institution building on Wall street about midnight Monday night, making his nightly visit to shut off an electric light that is left lighted in the front window during the evening, he smelled smoke that seemingly had percolated into the banking room. Patrolman James V. Simpson, on duty on Wall street, was notified by Special Officer DeGraff and they investigated. In the cellar boiler room they discovered the heating furnace red hot about the doors and the room so highly heated that the work of the room was hot. Fair street fire station was called by telephone by Officer Simpson and the firemen came over. Fearing that the water in the boiler might be low and the boiler become cracked, the fire was pulled. By so doing the furnace and boiler soon cooled off. A draft having been left open was the apparent cause for the fire to burn up during the night and caused the furnace to become overheated. Word was sent to William C. Shafer, president of the Sa-Slags Institution, to James O'Connor, treasurer, and Charles S. Wood, a trustee, who has a shoe store in the building, who came and remained until they were satisfied the danger from a fire was over.

JAIL BREAKERS MEET DEATH IN HAYSTACK

Where They Are Shot By Members of posse.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 5.—A hail of bullets from guns of a posse brought to a tragic close the escape of the three state penitentiary convicts who got away 18 hours before after killing James Hart, 62 year old guard. Armed with only a revolver taken from the slain guard and defiant to the end, the fugitives met their death late last night in a haystack in which they sought refuge on the farm of John Schepker, five miles southeast of here.

The three convicts, who were known as "bad" men, were Frank Delore, who was serving 45 years for murder; Miles Thomas, serving eight years for burglary and Jack McFall of Kansas City, Mo., who was in for ten years for highway robbery.

The posse got a tip from a dairyman that he believed the men were hiding in one of his barns. Fresh snow had fallen and the posse tracked the men two miles to the haystack where one of the fugitives, armed with a revolver opened fire on the officers.

Leon E. Decker Was Unconscious

Overcome by Illuminating Gas in Bathroom of His Home on Washington Avenue—Removed to Kingston City Hospital in Ambulance.

Leon E. Decker was found unconscious on the floor of the bathroom at his home, No. 175 Washington avenue, about 10 o'clock this morning by his daughter, with whom he made his home.

Mr. Decker had been overcome by illuminating gas when the tube on a gas heater in the bathroom had become disconnected. Dr. E. F. Sibley was summoned and had the man removed to the Kingston City Hospital in the ambulance.

It is said that Mr. Decker had been a resident of Kingston but a short time, removing here from Fleischmanns.

ONLY GERMAN EMBASSY HAS FLAG AT FULL STAFF.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Feb. 5.—While the diplomatic colony of Washington joined today in expressions of sorrow over the death of Woodrow Wilson, and half masted their flags in conformity with the flag over government buildings, the flag over the German embassy continued to fly at full staff.

Members of the embassy staff said it remained at full mast in accordance with orders from the government at Berlin.

Telephonic inquiry at the embassy drew the reply that the Berlin government considered America's war time president "a private citizen" for whom no special honors need be paid, and consequently the flag on the embassy was not half staffed as were all the other flags in the capital.

Embassy officials displayed some embarrassment over the matter, but took the position that the government's orders had to be carried out. The incident caused some unpleasant comment in government circles, and resulted in many telephone calls to newspaper offices, government departments and the embassy itself as to why the flag was not half masted as others.

HOME BUREAU LECTURE AT NEW PALTZ ON FRIDAY

Ulster County Home Bureau members in New Paltz and also from Shawangunk, Modena, Clintondale, Milton and Gardiner, will have their next lecture in the nutrition course at the trustees' room in New Paltz on Friday afternoon, February 8, at 1:30 o'clock. Misunderstanding Again Delays Oil Lease Probe

Ungerleider, Cleveland Broker, Not on Hand to Testify, Committee Adjourns to Thursday.

LATER HE SHOWS UP

With Data Requested—Startling Testimony Is Predicted From Private Sources.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Feb. 5.—The Senate investigation of stock market operations in connection with the lease of Teapot Dome oil reserve to Harry F. Sinclair struck a snag today when Samuel Ungerleider, Cleveland stock broker, failed to answer a summons to appear before the public lands committee.

When Ungerleider failed to answer this morning when his name was called the committee adjourned until Thursday.

After the committee adjourned, Ungerleider, accompanied by James Sloan, his former Washington Manager, arrived in the committee room. He explained that he had been in Washington but was under the impression that the meeting was not until 10:30 o'clock. The committee met at 10.

Ungerleider, who immediately went to Lenroot's office to explain his failure to be present, declared he had with him all books requested by the committee.

The short session of the committee today, when it had been planned to ask Ungerleider and other stock brokers for books that might shed light upon the maze of conflicting rumors connecting a senator and a former high official of the Harding administration with deals in Sinclair stock, drew only one spectator in comparison to the crowds that previously have jammed the hearing room. Besides only a handful of committee members were present.

When Senator Lenroot, chairman, asked, "Is Mr. Ungerleider in the room?" a deep silence prevailed. Committee members with quizzical looks upon their faces, glanced at one another and about the room. They sat in silence for several moments.

"I understood Mr. Ungerleider was here," Lenroot added. "What was Ungerleider to tell the committee? I asked Senator Kendrick, Democrat, Wyoming.

"The committee did not want to question very long," replied Lenroot. "We wanted to ask him about some books and documents that were mentioned in the subpoena."

When after several minutes of waiting, the Cleveland stock broker did not appear, Lenroot suggested that the committee adjourn until Thursday. This was agreed to.

No effort was made to hear other stock brokers who are under subpoena.

After the room was cleared of the one spectator, an elderly lady who has missed only few meetings since the hearings started last October, the committee held an informal discussion. Then Lenroot explained what books the committee desired from Ungerleider and other brokers. These books cover the periods during which the leases were made. Committee members desire to learn whether any governmental officials are listed.

Washington, Feb. 5.—New and startling revelations in the naval oil scandal were promised as the Senate public lands committee today began an examination of officials of leading stock brokerage firms in New York, Cleveland and Washington.

If the evidence unearthed is such as contemplated by members of the committee on the basis of private information, additional high government officials may be caught in the dragnet and found to be involved in the oil reserve "mess."

Information has been called to the attention of the committee that one member of the committee itself, and a former official who was close to the administration of the late President Harding were "in the know" and profited financially by dealing in Sinclair stock before the announcement of the lease of Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair by ex-Secretary of Interior Fall was made public.

Numerous stock brokers were summoned to be on hand today, including Carl P. Bickerman of the Chase National Bank, New York; Samuel Ungerleider of Cleveland; W. B. Hibbs of Hibbs and Company, Washington, and James Sloan, former White House secret service man and Washington agent of the Ungerleider Company.

As the committee planned only a short session, out of respect to the memory of Woodrow Wilson, only Bickerman was expected to take the witness stand today. He was asked to bring any details that might throw light on financial deals of Sinclair and personal attorney, Colonel W. J. Zevely, between September 1, 1921 and June 1, 1923. The committee particularly desired to know whether the Chase bank has any records relating to remittances by Sinclair and Zevely from that bank to any bank in Washington.

The prime object of the meeting today was to determine whether all the brokers, for whom subpoenas have been out since last Saturday, were ready to testify. After reporting the committee was expected to excuse them, subject to recall at any time.

As the committee will ask the senate Thursday for reaffirmation of its authority to conduct the oil probe, challenged by Fall, the former secretary has been directed to

Sleet Storm Moves Northward

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 5.—The severe sleet and storm in the middle-west will move northward during the next 36 hours, attended by general precipitation east of the Mississippi river, except in the extreme south, the United States weather bureau announced today.

Gales in the vicinity of Chicago have reached a velocity of 56 miles an hour, according to reports reaching here.

The temperature is expected to rise in the North Atlantic states to night and in New England Wednesday, while considerable cold weather will overspread the Ohio valley, Tennessee and the east gulf and South Atlantic states tonight and Wednesday, and the lower lake region and Middle Atlantic states on Wednesday.

The storms are not limited to the central and eastern states. Another disturbance is central over Alberta, Canada, and is moving southeastward, causing precipitation in the Rocky Mountain region westward to the Pacific coast.

Tools Made by K. H. S. Students

The exhibit of tools which was on display at the last meeting of the board of education has been placed in the window of S. Cohen's Sons clothing store on Wall street where it will remain for a few days so that the public may see what the boys of the high school and the part time students in the high school are doing in the machine shop course at the high school.

In the machine shop the boys are given the raw material and under the instruction of the teacher turn out various small tools. The students pay for the material used and when the product is completed it is owned by the student. In the exhibit now on display at Cohen's store are shown hammers, screwdrivers, chisels, punches and other small tools. The entire exhibit was made by students who took up this course last fall.

Later the exhibit will be placed in a downtown store for a time.

Japanese Bell 1,191 Years Old.

The largest bell in Japan is suspended in the grounds of the grand Jodo temple of Chion-in, at Kyoto. Visitors are not allowed to sound it. It was cast in 1033. It weighs 74 tons and requires, it is said, 24 men to ring it properly. Next in size ranks the bell of the Daibutsu temple in Kyoto, which visitors are allowed to ring on payment of a small sum. It was cast in 1615 and weighs 63 tons. The wonderful bell of Todaiji, at Nara, although ranking only third, is perhaps the most interesting of all the bells in Japan. It is 13 feet 6 inches in diameter, but its inferiority to the Kyoto bells is not in visible dimensions, so much as in weight and thickness. It was cast in 733 and is therefore 1,191 years old, says the Detroit News. Visitors pay a small sum to see it once.

Old Newspapers and Books.

Old newspapers and books are used to make cardboard and coarse wrapping paper. It is difficult, however, to produce white paper from waste printed paper. Various attempts have been made to dissolve the oily or resinous portion of the printing inks with solutions of soap, petroleum, caustic soda and so forth in order to wash away the black pigment afterward. Some time ago there was a process invented for removing the ink pigment by treating the printed paper with boiling solutions of borax. The hope is expressed that this method may act as a check on the rapid deforestation of this country and avert a condition that has threatened to cause a crisis in the paper industry.

Gigantic Lumber Rafts.

To compete successfully with the high-priced timber of the Southwest, a resourceful log importer of San Diego has, it is reported, adopted an ingenious method of shipping lumber from Oregon to southern California. Gigantic rafts are made of the logs and they are towed down the Pacific coast behind small steamers. The rafts are cigar-shaped and average 700 feet in length, 30 feet in depth and 70 feet across. Two-thirds of the raft is under water. The chains on a single raft weigh 115 tons and cost $10,000. The first seagoing log boom built its 1,000-mile trip twelve years ago, and since then more than sixty of the huge rafts have followed that course.

Villanage.

Villanage was a system of land tenure introduced into England after the Norman Conquest (1066 A. D.) whereby the occupants of the soil were kept in a condition of servitude and were permitted to hold land only on condition of performing menial service for their lord and superior. Such persons were called villeins (of or pertaining to the vill), whence is derived the common English word villian. Villanage, although never formally abolished in England, ceased to exist in the sixteenth century.

The Woman Who Loves.

As an old student of life, I should say the most beautiful and helpful thing in it is the respect, confidence and love of an agreeable woman. And I beg you men who enjoy this blessing not to throw it away heedlessly. A woman who loves you is entitled to fair treatment; and many devoted women do not get it. A just master longest retains his power. If there is any one entitled to justice, to gentleness and appreciation, from a man, it is the woman who devotedly loves him. —E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Misunderstanding Again Delays

appear Friday for further examination. Fall's counsel intimated today that he would remain firm in his decision not to answer questions of the committee, basing his chief objection on the grounds that such testimony might incriminate him when the oil cases are carried to court by the special counsel, Silas H. Strawn and Alice Pomerene. In that event the committee is known to be ready to start contempt proceedings immediately to compel him to answer on penalty of going to jail, provided under federal statutes. Should that course be adopted a long drawn out legal battle likely would ensue, said to be the precise procedure that Fall himself desires.

With all the evidence taken by the committee already in their hands, Strawn and Pomerene are expected to make the first definite move in the Government's oil cases late this week or by Monday or Tuesday of next week. The first step will be the filing of injunction suits to prevent Sinclair and E. L. Doheny from further extracting oil from Teapot Dome or Elk Hill's naval reserves as directed in the Walsh resolution. The special counsel, after conferences with officials of the department of justice and with assistants, have not yet determined definitely whether the injunctions will be sought in the District of Columbia or in western courts. As the leases were executed here and as prosecutors will be maintained in Washington, it was considered most probable that the injunctions would be asked from the District of Columbia court.

Accountants of the Federal Trade Commission selected by Senators Smoot, Republican, Utah and Walsh, Democrat, Montana, to examine books of local stock brokers covering the periods during which the oil reserve leases were made, have nearly completed their work and will be prepared to present the records to the committee within a few days, it was learned.

Tax Hearing in Albany

Assembly Committee Hears Experts, Including Seligman and McKensie —Democrats Urge Governor's Bill.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 5.—Bills calling for a reduction of the personal income tax were the subject of a hearing before the Assembly Committee on taxation at the capitol today.

Democrats urged the committee to report out the Taylor bill which carries out Governor Smith's recommendation for a reduction of 25 per cent in the income tax.

Professor E. R. A. Seligman of Columbia University, reputed to be one of the technical experts who aided Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in the preparation of his tax reduction plan, was slated as one of the speakers. H. C. McKensie of the Federal Farm Bureau, also was expected to discuss tax reduction.

Assemblyman Darison, Republican of Nassau, chairman of the committee, presided.

The Republican members of the legislature have not decided on their reduction measure. If they can find a way of reducing the direct state tax they will approve the governor's plan to reduce the income tax, it was said, at the capitol today.

WOMAN DYING AFTER WILD RIDE IN TAXI.

Says Three Men Abducted Her—Car Hit Post.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Orange, N. J., Feb. 5.—After telling police she had been kidnapped, Mrs. Margaret Norborn, of Newark, was dying at the Orange Memorial Hospital today after the taxicab in which she and three men were riding smashed into a concrete post here.

Mrs. Norborn suffered a fracture of the right hip, right knee, two compound fractures of the left leg and serious internal injuries.

Arthur R. Fountain, also of Newark, was severely cut about the face when hurled through the windshield of the machine. Vincent Desanzio, of Orange, suffering from a fracture of the skull and internal injuries was believed to be dying.

A third man, said by Mrs. Norborn to have been involved in the alleged kidnapping plot, was seen running away after the accident slightly hurt.

Before becoming unconscious at the hospital Mrs. Norborn told the police she accepted Fountain's invitation for a ride while walking home in Newark. She said the other two men, whom she did not know, were in the rear seat, overpowered her in the dark.

Fountain denied Mrs. Norborn's story, saying that he and the other two men had "picked her up" in a Newark saloon.

YOUNG MAN KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Feb. 5.—Eli Everett, 25, shot and killed his 23 year old wife and then committed suicide at their home in East Stroudsburg today. The couple were married about a year ago in Canada. A family dispute is believed to have precipitated the tragedy. Saturday night Mrs. Everett sought to have her husband arrested for an alleged attack upon her, but dropped the case when a reconciliation was effected.

Evergreen Shade Leaf.

Some are of the opinion that evergreen trees carry the same crop of leaves throughout their entire life, says Nature Magazine. This is not correct, for evergreen trees develop successive new crops of leaves and shed them regularly, but they are not completely devoid of foliage at regular periods of each year.

Floating Panel Hangs Below Hem of Skirt

For the woman who clings to the beloved soft gown Vionet is creating delightful models, revealing in the satin crepes, employing the floating panel that ripples below the skirt hem, using now and then a jeweled motif and seldom any trimming beyond a single outlining row of rhinestones, of which she is frankly fond.

One such sample of the artist's talent, notes a fashion writer in the New York Times, is in pale yellow flat crepe. The frock proper is a chemise, cut V in the neck in front, round at the back and sleeveless. Marking the waistline at the hips, a square of the material is gathered slightly on at each side, half the width of the material, and left loose to cascade almost to the floor. The gown is plain in the back, the skirt gathered slightly to the bodice. A line of brilliant edges the neck and hangs like a necklace, front and back, finished with a pretty ornament of the stones. This rhinestone outline marks also the under arm seams and another such ornament finishes at each side.

There is no effort at elaborating this gown which the author's imitators have reproduced in countless ways, materials and colors. Vionet goes in also for the front drapery that marks a striking contrast to the back of the frock, which is straight from the neck to the hem. Without reason or apology a piece of the material is set, plaited or gathered in the middle of the front of the dress, fastening across the low waistline and hanging almost to the floor, to be stumbled over, never to be held aside, if the wearer be au fait.

Colorful Effects in Fashionable Jewelry

One might suppose that after the continued craze for the wearing of so much jewelry a reaction would be in order. Not only has this reaction not occurred but the demand for all sorts of novelties in the way of bracelets, pendants, earrings and other ornaments seems to grow stronger each day and jewelry, both with the Parisienne and the American woman, becomes more and more elaborate with an increasing number of pieces worn at one time.

Jewelry is colorful this winter. The entire gamut of semi-precious stones is worn during the day in vivid and contrasting colors—red and black effects in coral and onyx and green and blue colorings in jade and lapis. They are worn as necklaces, as earrings and as bracelets. Even watch bracelets, which used to be worn mostly on black ribbon are now worn on bright red ribbon by the very smartest women.

Among the new vogues sponsored by the "brooch clique" or double-headed pins, which are worn in the daytime as hatpins and also as an ornament at the waist. These pins are very often composed of valuable stones.

Robin Hood Hat.

An endearing piece of headgear of narrow-brimmed soft felt holds beneath its snug band of black-bordered tapestry ribbon a single long, straight feather tilted across the brim at a jaunty angle.

New Brassiere.

A new type of brassiere is made with criss-cross boning across the diaphragm. It was designed to give support where many women need it, and to give the flat silhouette so fashionable now.

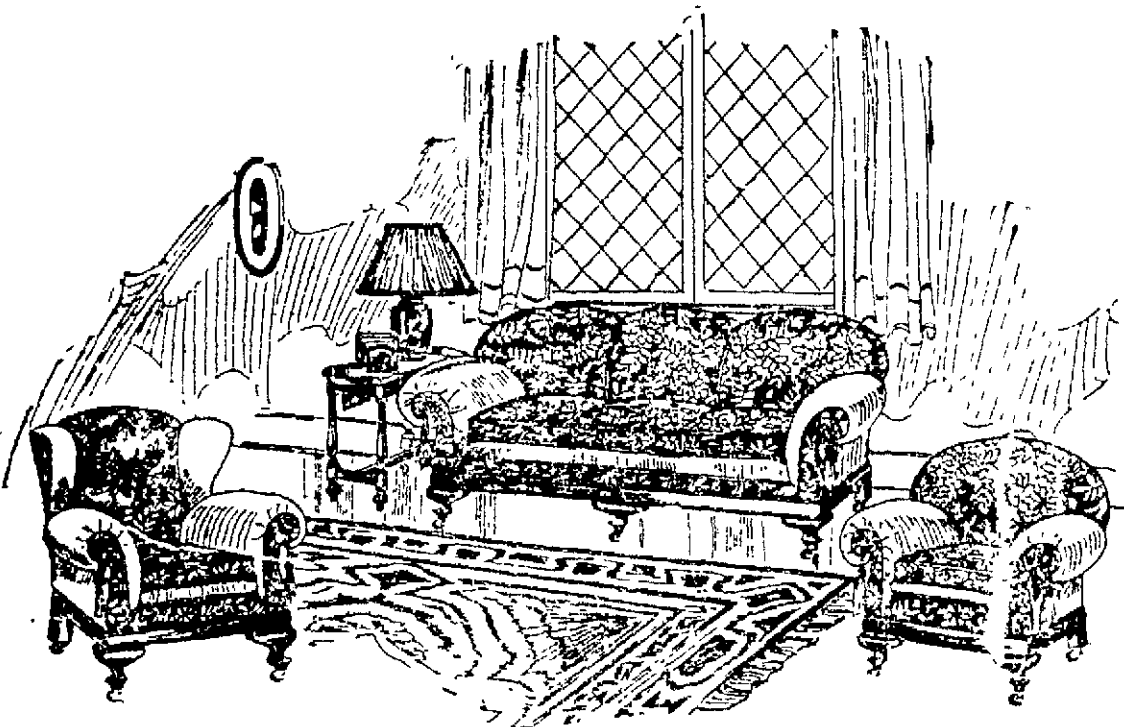

Nature Provides Their Furnace.

Citizens living in Habsburg, Pomerania, need no furnaces, as it is said the city is built at the foot of a partly extinct volcano, and at times the temperature rises thirty-seven degrees in a little more than two hours.

FALL'S MUTILATED NOTE TO DOHENY.

This is the mutilated note for $100,000 which E. L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate, produced before a Senatorial investigating committee as the one given him by Albert B. Fall, ex-Secretary of the Interior. The signature was torn off, but it was that in the event of his death his executors would not give Fall trouble in paying it. Doheny failed to produce the signature.

THE SAME OLD BILL.

Senator Straus has again introduced the bill to abolish the department of farms and markets. Every year since Tammany allowed him to represent a New York city district he has been trying to tear down the agricultural department, and in such a way that the agricultural affairs of the state could be placed in the hands of Tammany.

Governor Smith, in his annual message, states that he has three times recommended this change and with probably unconscious humor adds that "strange to say" his recommendations have been defeated through the efforts of those most concerned, the farmers of the state. Those for whose aid the department exists like it as it is, but the governor thinks he knows what is best for the farmers in this respect just as he does the Rural School Bill, which he advocates out of the deep concern for and profound knowledge of the farmers that he learned while practicing law in New York city and obtaining advice and instruction in regard to rural affairs from Tammany Hall politicians.

How objectionable this would be to the farming people needs no argument. The farming communities have registered their opposition so strongly that there is no doubt as to how the tillers of the soil felt on this subject. There is no more likelihood of the bill passing than there is of water running up hill, but the effort of Senator Straus to force the measure proves how anxious Tammany is to get control of the agricultural bureau. Just now were the council to be abolished the Governor would have the appointing power, and, being a Tammany man, it is certain he would appoint a Tammany man as commissioner.

Speaker Machold has on many occasions discussed the department of farms and markets and has said that while there should be improvements in the law governing the bureau he was opposed to ripping it apart and throwing it into politics. He has explained that he tried to have it organized on the plan of the state board of regents so that a representative body of men could pass upon the policies of the department. The speaker says the department is in better condition than it was when there was one commissioner, so he would therefore oppose abolishing the council.

The general impression is, and always has been, that Tammany thinks if it had control of the agricultural department it could make a bigger showing up-state on election day. It has been led to believe that the department is the one branch of the state government which provides Republican votes. Thus Senator Straus may be acting under orders to introduce the bill to abolish the council, but with Speaker Machold looking out for the interests of the farmer the Straus proposal is scheduled for tough sledding.

MELTON PLAN AND DEMOCRATS.

John W. Davis and Martin W. Littleton are not the only Democrats who favor the Mellon Tax reduction plan, or at least want to be sure that their party leaders have something better to offer. For example, the New Orleans Picayune, referring to the substitute proposals, asks, "Do they meet the test of intelligent analysis? That question is in general avoided by their proponents. The folks at home must insist that it be answered." The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser says the Democrats in Congress "should realize that they are not going to promote the chances of the Democratic nominee by shaping the course of the Democratic party to meet the approval of the radical leaders." And the Cecil County (Md.) News objects to what it fears is an "attempt to defeat in Congress the Mellon plan of tax reduction simply because it is favored by Republicans."

From time out of mind there has been so much criticism of the "ins" by the "outs," with partisanship as the only or main object, that suspicion of the existence of such partisanship is readily awakened. The Democratic journalists quoted may not fully understand a subject that calls for the insight of financial experts, but anyone can understand that the Democrats would be wise to be sure that they have something better to offer before they press their proposals. One of the difficulties of government by parties is that the opposition, instead of heeding the injunction, "be sure you are right and then go ahead," too often acts as if the maxim read "be right if convenient, but above all be sure that you go ahead." Under our system a strong and critical opposition is desirable, even imperative, but it should be backed by high intelligence and regard for the public good as well as by party policy.

For Benefit of Library

While the series of lectures and entertainment given by the Federation of Women's Clubs is for the benefit of the Kingston City Library primarily, the two lectures and the entertainment which comes on February 13 are heralded as fully worth the admission in beneficial entertainment.

Annie Louise David, who has become so justly famous as a harpist, has made of this rather saccharine instrument, one of dignity and versatility as well as exquisite beauty. She already has many friends here. As for Edward Bromberg, Russian baritone who will appear at the same entertainment with Miss David, H. E. Krehbiel of the New York Times has said of him:

"The best tribute to Russian art was that paid by Mr. Bromberg at his song recital in Rumford Hall. Mr. Bromberg sang folk-songs and art-songs, told his hearers something about their meaning in introductory remarks, and much more by singing them with a fine voice and nice appreciation of their beauty. The beauty is great, uniquely so in the case of the folk-songs and almost so in the case of the art-songs. Thank heaven for the unspiced element in Russian art!"

Tickets for this entertainment and the final lecture to be given by Whitlock Williams will be one dollar and a half, while single tickets are one dollar. School children will be admitted by paying fifty cents at the door on the evenings of the entertainment and lecture.

That Body of Yours

SHOULD ENLARGED TONSILS BE REMOVED?

As a matter of fact I am unable to answer the above question. I have seen tonsils which looked as large as chestnuts and yet there were apparently no symptoms.

The child or adult seemed to breathe naturally, the lung capacity as registered by the spirometer was up to normal, there was no history of snoring during sleep, and absolutely no pain whatever.

Our leading specialists are inclined to leave such tonsils alone now, although in former years the removal of all large tonsils was advised. Those specialists have tonsils divided into four classes, the large soft variety, the soft ragged tonsil, the hard small imbedded tonsil, and the buried tonsil which cannot be seen because it is behind the pillars.

Now just as long as these tonsils (which by the way should disappear before puberty) give no trouble, it is felt that no effort should be made to remove them.

If you should have an attack of tonsillitis whereby these tonsils become greatly inflamed, and you are prostrated with the usual severe illness that accompanies it, it would be well to have them removed, after you are well again.

Some physicians do not condemn the tonsils on one attack, but advise waiting, and if a second attack ensues, then after you are well over it, the tonsils should be removed.

As you know this is also the system adopted by many physicians in the treatment of an inflammation of the appendix.

It is generally agreed that the chronic diseased tonsil, with the white plugs in evidence in the little holes of crypts in the tonsil is one of the causes of lowered vitality and a forerunner of rheumatism.

The operation for removal of the tonsils is now considered worthy of a throat specialist.

So if you look down your throat from time to time and see the white cheesy masses exuding from your tonsils, remember that these masses should be removed as they can do harm to your system.

And if you have ever had an acute attack of tonsillitis, you have already suffered more pain than the operation can cause you.

STATE BONUS THROUGH ASSEMBLY NEXT WEEK.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 5.—The state soldier bonus bill is expected to be passed in the assembly not later than next week. This measure provides for a $150 bonus for all veterans of the world war from New York state. Queer Queries Are Received

The Federal Civil Service Commission at Washington is supposed to be omniscient. It receives inquiries from all parts of the country concerning matters not at all related to its work.

The latest is a request for information as to the "names of all the important advertising firms in the United States."

The Commission informed the inquirer, a woman in the Middle West, that if she intended to ask for a list of all the important firms in the United States that advertise, and if by "firms" she meant mercantile establishments, it may be said that every important firm in the United States advertises; that if it did not advertise it probably would not be important. She was also told how she could obtain a list of advertising agencies.

When the buffalo nickel was first circulated, a letter came to the office of the Commission asking for the name of the members of the Supreme Court of the United States, "and will you please send me one of the new buffalo nickels?" The names of the Supreme Court members, of course, were given to the inquirer, and she was informed that she could obtain one of the new nickels at her bank.

"If you cannot assist me to a government position, please hand this letter to some kind, righteous, wealthy maid or widow who is matrimonially inclined and who would marry an honest poor man who has brains and character," wrote an applicant for examination. In this instance the commission admits that it failed miserably.

From way down south came an inquiry concerning a matter that is very much in the public prints at this time. The writer of the letter said: "I am rife for some information concerning this home us money. I would be glad to find out about it. This is my real No. 1."

"Where is the National Museum?" "In what internal revenue district is Providence?" "Can you tell me the congressional district that includes my home town?" "In what government office in Washington is Mary Jones from Smithville, Illinois, working?" These are some of the questions which bombard the information bureau of the commission every day.

A man in Virginia wrote stating that he had sent money to a certain advertiser for the purchase of his goods, but that after several months of correspondence he had been unable to secure the goods. The Commission referred the letter to the National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which committee informed the Commission in due time that the complainant, through the effort of the committee, had received the goods and had reported them as being satisfactory.

The Civil Service Commission impresses upon its employees that the taxpayers of the country are their employers and that they are expected to serve them to the limit of their ability.

A man in Virginia wrote stating that he had sent money to a certain advertiser for the purchase of his goods, but that after several months of correspondence he had been unable to secure the goods. The Commission referred the letter to the National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which committee informed the Commission in due time that the complainant, through the effort of the committee, had received the goods and had reported them as being satisfactory.

The Civil Service Commission impresses upon its employees that the taxpayers of the country are their employers and that they are expected to serve them to the limit of their ability.

Here is a simple yet effective method to treat a sore throat. Gargle with warm salt water three times daily. Also swallow slowly every few hours a teaspoonful of Vicks.

At night apply Vicks over the throat and upper chest, rubbing well in. Then spread on thickly and cover with a warm flannel cloth.

The body heat releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc.—in the form of vapors and these vapors, inhaled all night long, go directly to the affected parts.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster drawing out the soreness and pain.

Vicks is equally good for hoarseness, tonsillitis, head and chest colds, and for the croupy colds of children.

Imperial Tables

Let Gateleg Tables Add Charm to your Home

SINCE the days of Oliver Cromwell, the gateleg table, with its quaint swing legs and drop leaves, has been a favored furnishing in the home. Today it is more popular than ever, because of its decorative value and its broad usefulness.

No article of furniture is more obliging, or adapts itself more readily to the various needs of the household. When not in use its leaves may be dropped and it takes up little space.

See Our Collection of Gatelegs

We cordially invite you to see our assortment of handsome gateleg tables. Here will be found sizes and shapes for every need, round and oval tops, with many individual touches of design, and surfaces rich in deep-toned mahogany. Here are chic little gatelegs for the corner piece, gatelegs for wall consoles, for lamp and book tables, for study and game tables, for bedside and boudoir tables, for library tables and extension dining room tables. You will enjoy seeing our displays, and be pleased with the moderate prices.

Cantilever Shoe

Who Has a Beautiful Foot?

NATURE made the human foot a thing of beauty. Improper shoes have distorted the foot bones, cramped the foot muscles and a beautiful foot is seen more often in statuary than in life today.

Your feet to be healthy and supple must have the proper shoes—shoes that will allow natural foot action. The flexible arch of a Cantilever Shoe permits natural foot action, while giving support to the arch, gently and naturally. Ample toe room allows free action of the toes. The flexible arch permits exercise and circulation. Foot numbness in cold weather is thus avoided. Cantilevers are refined in style, well made and reasonably priced.

Policeman Was Injured Monday

Policeman Elmer Shoemaker was injured Monday afternoon when the city ambulance was struck by a Ford delivery truck driven by Dick Weber, son of Edward Weber, the Broadway butcher, at the intersection of Broadway and East Chester street. The tender of the Ford truck struck the officer, who was standing on the running board of the ambulance, in the leg, ripping Shoemaker's trousers and injuring the leg.

At the time of the collision Officers Shoemaker and Burger were conveying William Perkins from 219 Catherine street to the Tuberculosis Hospital, and were about to turn into East Chester street when the Ford car sideswiped the ambulance. Neither car was damaged.

Officer Shoemaker will be confined to his home for some time.

Test Yourself for Vocabulary Size

Do you know the meaning of the first fifty words in the vocabulary test that follows?

If you do, then you know the meaning of at least eight thousand words. This is the way to use the test: Get a dictionary and lay it beside you. Then look at the first word in the test and tell in your own words what it means. Find the word in the dictionary and see if the meaning you gave was correct. You do not have to define the word exactly as the dictionary does. All you need to do is to tell a meaning of it in any way you please. Check your answers as correct if the dictionary gives one such meaning for the word. Continue with each word. Put a dash (—) after the words that you knew the meaning for and a cross (X) after those whose correct meaning you did not know. Stop when you have gotten eight or ten words wrong in succession.

Multiply the number correct by 180. The answer you get tells the number of words you know.

Sturgeon Pool Plant Operating

All Generators Undergo Satisfactory Tests and With Plenty of Water are Turning 21,000 Horsepower Into Current.

The new Sturgeon Pool hydro-electric plant of the United Hudson Electric Company is now feeding current into the company's transmission lines, all of the three 7,000 horsepower generators having finished their tests satisfactorily and having been put in operation. Thus in a comparatively short period since the latter part of April, 1922, when the first borings and surveys were made, a massive dam has been thrown across the Walkill, confining a large and beautiful lake in some places 130 feet deep and a power plant installed which is steadily and silently turning 21,000 horsepower into current with which to help supply the ever-increasing demand for electric current in the Hudson valley and at certain seasons to take part of the load off the steam power plants of the company.

Already hundreds of visitors have made the trip over the rough road built by the company from the Edenville-Hilton road, about two miles this side of Hilton, to the dam, and when the company carries out its plans for beautifying the site, this will be a strong rival to the multitude of scenic resorts of this section for motorists. The company expects to allow the public to come and go freely about the premises and will build roads, parking space, flower beds and lawns in the expectation that it will prove a popular picnic resort. Usher county and visiting fishermen will probably share in the benefits of the lake, also, since the Walkill has long been a fine stream for bass but with few deep pools, they rarely grew to large size. This lake provides a home for them two miles long, extending back to the foot of Dashville Falls, over a hundred feet deep in many places and with a shore line approximately 6 miles in length. In places it approaches close to the Hilton road. It is estimated the dam impounds one billion cubic feet of water and it wipes out three falls—Buttermilk, Hilton and Powder Mill.

The work on the dam itself began in July, 1922, when the Foundation Company of New York, which had the contract for that part of the project, began pouring concrete after several months of preparatory work, installation of machinery, crushers, benders, hoists, etc., and except during the winter months progressed steadily until the dam was finished November 23 of this year.

The dam contains 75,000 cubic yards of material, mostly concrete, and the top is 108½ feet above the bed of the stream. In length the dam is approximately 650 feet long, the spillway portion being 500 feet in length. At the top, which is arched in form, the dam is about 14 feet thick, from which it slopes on the outward face to a thickness of 90 feet at the bottom. There is a passageway 5 by 7½ feet through which one may walk from the east end of the dam to a platform near the west end where the three penstocks convey the water to the power house and from this passageway there is a well leading down to the sluice gates and their valve controls at the bottom of the dam in which is a circular staircase with 93 steps.

Sluice gates are six in number and will be used to empty the lake if it is ever necessary to assist the spillway in carrying away surplus water in time of flood. At present the sluices are being used to keep the water from running over the spillway because the spray freezes on everything within a hundred yards of the base of the dam and in this area just now are working about a hundred men, cleaning up, putting in minor concrete work such as floors in the power house, stairways, etc., and electricians attending to the testing and other details of the generator installation. Thomas Corby, engineer of the electric company, is in charge. When the weather permits next spring, it is intended to make everything shipshape and clean for the power house spotlessly clean for the throngs of visitors who are expected.

It is naturally a beautiful spot and just across the creek are the remains of the series of little mills that the DuPont people used for grinding the ingredients of their explosives and before them, the Laffin & Rand Company, which manufactured gunpowder for use during the Civil War. These mills with their frail wooden turbines, secured power from Walkill water which was diverted through a long canal parallel with the stream. They present a striking contrast in the methods of utilizing water power then and now.

Three penstocks of iron, ten feet in diameter and 213 feet long, lead the water from near the west end of the dam down a slope to the turbines in the power house and each of the three turbines is connected by a thick iron shaft to the generator above it which it turns at a speed automatically governed according to need by an oil pressure system. These penstocks have shown themselves to be nearly waterproof since the water was turned on and the construction joints in the dam itself have closed up through the action of the water, as was intended, until 90 per cent of the seepage has stopped. Some of the joints have closed entirely. Concrete dams, like practically all other concrete construction, are built in sections with a very small space between the sections to permit of contraction and expansion.

and, in dams, the action of the water in a few weeks fills these with an elastic substance that makes them waterproof.

The power house on the west shore of the stream a little below the dam, is 101½ feet long and 47 feet, 11 inches wide, and has two floors. The lower one houses the oil pressure pumps and tanks and their piping for operating the turbines and on the main floor, above are the generators, governors, switchboard, office and bus compartment where the current is conducted from the generators to be measured, tested and if necessary altered before it enters the switchboard. A traveling crane is installed which can convey any load up to 30 tons about the main floor. The hauling of the equipment, some pieces of which weighed thirty tons, was not the least of the problems the engineers had to solve, but by building a road part of the way to Rosendale, they were able to haul from that station. The power house is of steel frame and hollow tile construction and is roofed with copper shingles. The turbines were built and installed by Seaver, Wellman and Morgan and the Allis-Chalmers Company furnished the generators.

The current generated in the power house is taken to an outdoor substation close by where by means of three gigantic transformers it is stepped up from 6,000 volts to 33,000 volts, the voltage used on the company's trunk lines.

Two rails are laid along the top of the spillway of the dam over which a crane can travel, towing a heavy gate which lies at all times in the water along the inner face of the dam and which is intended to be used to stop the water from running into any one of the three penstocks or the three sluice gates while repairs are being made or obstructions cleared away. The sluice gates themselves are controlled electrically from the power house.

A goodly supply of water is available now in the Walkill river and has been at all times since the gates were closed at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, December 12. At 8 o'clock Saturday night, December 15, water began flowing over the spillway.

Colonel Malby, an engineer of international reputation, was the real builder of the power plant, having general supervision over all contracts and much of the work not covered by them, such as the heavy hauling and installation, a good portion of the work being done by the electric company itself such as substructure for the power house, excavation, tail race, etc. Contractors who also had a part in the work were the Chicago Bridge Company, penstocks, Newburgh Building and Supply Company, power house superstructure, and the Treadwell Manufacturing Company which supplied and erected the crane hoist at the top of the dam. The hoist has a lifting power of 50 tons.

The landscape beautifying and grading has been suspended until early spring.

TO ASK A SPECIAL PROSECUTOR FOR DICKSON.

He Was Beneficiary in $1,200 by Daughter's Death.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Bridgeport, N. J., Feb. 5.—Governor Silzer will be asked today by leading citizens here to appoint a special prosecutor to take charge of the investigation into the death of Emma Dickson, 16 year old Brickboro high school girl, whose father, Thompson Dickson, is in jail on a charge of murder in connection with his daughter's death.

A number of citizens decided upon this course of action at an indignant meeting in Port Elizabeth last night at which Prosecutor Ward was assisted for his alleged failure to take stronger action to clear up the girl's murder.

One motive advanced, which apparently strengthened the state's case against the girl's father, was the disclosure that he was to be the beneficiary of $1,200 left to his daughter by her mother when the latter died some time ago.

The father today promised to give a detailed account of the murder. He charges the aged grandfather with the crime, but authorities believe this is an attempt to save himself.

SMITH SEEKS MONEY SPENT ON ALIEN INSANE

Thinks Several Million Dollars Due From Washington.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 5.—Governor Smith sent the legislature a brief special message today recommending that a legislative committee be appointed to confer with the state's representatives in Congress with a view of obtaining from the Federal Government money due this state for the care of alien insane. The governor pointed out that the state hospital commission's record show that from 1882 to 1921, 31,861 of these patients were cared for by New York state. He believes the state is entitled to several million dollars from the Federal government's Immigrant Fund for the care of these persons.

VENIZELLOS'S SUCCESSOR TO CARRY OUT PRESENT POLICY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Athens, Feb. 5.—Premier Kafandaris of Greece will carry out the policies of former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, especially in regard to the dynastic question. It was said today.

(Venizelos favored the establishing of a republic in Greece, but opposed the abolition of the dynasty without a national plebiscite.) After the session of the National Assembly today Deputies Tsionia and Pangalos came to blows. Tsionia disarmed Pangalos and then struck him with his fist. He followed Pangalos to his automobile, smashing the windows of the car.

Grade Crossing Message.

BYRKE TO EXPLAIN USE OF BIG CATTLE TR FUND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 5.—Bernie A. Byrke, state commissioner of farms and markets, will explain to the members of the Legislature tonight in the Assembly ways and means committee room the expenditure by his department of the $5,000,000 made available last year for condemned tubercular cattle. The department is asking a deficiency appropriation of $1,200,000 for condemned cattle to be used between now and the end of the fiscal year, July 1, and for $4,000,000 for the next fiscal year.

Assemblyman Witter, chairman of the committee on agriculture, today invited all the members of the Legislature to hear Mr. Byrke so that they will know how the past appropriations have been used.

The speech will answer criticisms directed at the expenditure of the condemned cattle fund by Governor Smith in his annual message.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 5.—The stock market was steady at the opening today, fractional gains being scored in the majority of the list. U. S. Steel rose 1/2 to 107 1/2, Republic Steel 1/2 to 59, while Baldwin lost 1/2 to 128 1/2. Studebaker at 105 1/2 and Mack Truck at 89 1/2 were up 1/4. Oils were steady, Cosden rising 1/4 to 39 1/2, Pan-American, 1/4 to 50 1/2. Pure Oil 1/4 to 25 1/2 and California Petroleum 1/4 to 28 1/2. Railroad shares were steady, Rock Island rising 1/2 to 26 1/2. Other rails were fractionally higher.

The forward movement gained further ground in the forenoon trading. Transactions, however, were confined to the oil section. Another rise in California crude oil and gasoline prices was the cause of the advance in this issue.

KINGSTON YOUNG MAN IN RESPONSIBLE POSITION

James Hill Betts spent the week end with his parents on Pearl street. He was graduated from Cornell University June 18th last, and has been employed by the New York Telephone Company in the Metropolitan area since about July 1st. He has been recently promoted to be the assistant district traffic manager of the Elizabeth, New Jersey District. This district is the second largest telephone district in New Jersey and embraces all of Union and Middlesex counties in New Jersey, including the large cities of Elizabeth, Plainfield, New Brunswick and Perth Amboy. He has his headquarters at Elizabeth. This district includes all of Staten Island, New York, and is the only New Jersey district that includes any part of New York. The district has a total of fifteen central offices and about six hundred employees in the traffic department. He is enthusiastic over his work.

GOVERNMENT READY TO TRY AND CHECK OIL FLOW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 5.—The government is fully prepared to start in junction proceedings to stop further drainage of oil on the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills areas as soon as the Walsh resolution is signed by the president, probably on Thursday next, it was stated at the White House today.

Drilling operations are still going on in both fields.

Appointments Confirmed.

Albany, Feb. 5.—The senate today confirmed the appointment by Governor Smith of M. Bruce Potter of Brighton, Monroe county, and William M. Dailey, of Rochester as managers of the Rochester state hospital.

Society Notes

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Richards announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Richards to Randolph P. Weyant, son of the Rev. and Mrs. P. C. Weyant, of New York city, formerly of Kingston.

Combes-Scholl.

A marriage occurred at the Methodist parsonage, Saugerties, Saturday evening, February 2, when the Rev. J. C. Coddington performed the ceremony uniting Harry Oliver Combes and Lillian Scholl, both of Ulster avenue, Saugerties. Mr. and Mrs. Combes will make their home in Phoenixia.

Ruse-Sheley.

Frank G. Ruse of Chicago, Ill., and Miss May D. Sheley of No. 447 Washington avenue, were united in marriage at St. Joseph's Church Monday morning at 10 o'clock by the Rev. Eugene Duggan. They were attended by Miss May Coogan and William Sheley. The bride has been employed in the local office at Keeney's theater, and both she and the groom are popular young folks. They will reside at Paterson, N. J., where the groom holds a responsible position.

Sorosis.

Mrs. H. P. Van Wageningen entertained Sorosis at her home on John street on Monday, February 4th. The roll call, "Special Problems of Today," met with a ready response. The paper on "Arthur Train, New York Lawyer and Writer," as given by Mrs. George B. Styles, Jr., proved very interesting. It was followed by an animated discussion of "His Children's Children." There was also a paper on "A Daughter of the Middle West," given enthusiastically by Mrs. Hull. Next Monday the club will meet with Mrs. Torpenning.

Monday Club.

On Monday afternoon the Monday Club met at the home of Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck. Some little time was devoted to the consideration of several matters brought to the attention of the club through the Federation of Women's Clubs, such as the doing away with bill-board advertising; the biennial conference of the Federated Women's Clubs to be held in California; the feasibility of having a Women's Federal Reformatory and the program for educational classes in the local Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Reed had the paper for the day on "Mental Tests for Adults." Next Monday the Club will meet with Mrs. De la Vergne, Mrs. Davis having charge of the afternoon. The topic will be "Special Abilities and Disabilities."

Stroogate-Sherry.

One of the most charming weddings that have occurred this year was solemnized at Willoughby Mansion, 665-669 Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., Sunday evening, February 3, when Miss Essie Sherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sherry of 137 West Chestnut street, this city, became the wife of Michael Stroogate, of West Haverstraw and Stony Point. The ceremony was performed under a beautiful canopy of smilax, white carnations and sweet peas by the Rev. Alexander Lyons, of Gardfield Temple, Brooklyn, N. Y. The bride looked charming in a gown of white chiffon trimmed with hand made Duchess lace. Her crown consisted of pearl satin beads and rhinestones, designed especially for her with a train of Duchess lace. Her bouquet was a shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The Misses Grace Burke, Estelle Kaplan, Hazel Margolis and Mary Adler served as bridesmaids with Miss Beatrice Lantais as maid of honor. The best man was Theodore Thornton, an intimate friend of the groom. Following the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served in the spacious dining room of the Willoughby Mansion. Following on extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Stroogate will make their home in Stony Point where Mr. Stroogate has purchased a large department store. Mrs. Stroogate has the best wishes of a large circle of friends whom she associated with in this city.

BOYLE TO SEEK ANTI-KLAN BILL'S REPEAL.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 5.—Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, New York, Democrat, today announced he was preparing a resolution for introduction next Monday night which will request Assemblyman John Boyle, Suffolk Republican, to give the legislature his reasons for introducing a bill to repeal the Walker anti-Ku Klux Klan law.

Assemblyman Boyle denied he introduced the bill because he was a member of the Klan. He said the Walker law had not accomplished the purpose for which it was enacted, and that if it should be rigidly enforced it would wipe out college fraternities.

LOWMAN BILL AGAIN TO GO IN LEGISLATURE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 5.—Senator Lowman and Assemblyman Jenks will introduce tomorrow a snow removal bill, which is backed by the New York State Automobile Association and the Binghamton Automobile Club. It will provide state aid for clearing the main highways of snow. The state would appropriate a dollar for every dollar appropriated by the county for this purpose.
State aid for snow removal has long been agitated in the Legislature. It has been contended that after spending millions of dollars on its improved highways the state is not getting its full value out of them if it allows the roads to be tied up by snow several months each year.

AUTOMATIC OIL FEED FOR AUTO

May Be Used on Any Engine Where Level Must Be Kept at Predetermined Height.

This automatic oil feed, while illustrated and described as applied to a light car, may be used on any engine where the oil level must be kept at a predetermined height.
A hole is drilled into the crankcase at about one-quarter inch below the point at which the oil level is to be held; this is tapped one-eighth-inch pipe-size, and a compression coupling for three-sixteenth-inch (outside diameter) copper tubing is screwed in firmly. The lower petcock is removed, and screwed into a one-eighth-inch tee, which is connected to the crankcase with a nipple; a compression coupling is then screwed into the side outlet of the tee.
A tank of about one-gallon capacity, made of sheet iron, and with all joints brazed, is then strapped to the dash; this tank may be a gallon oil can, but the constant vibration will chafe holes in it after about six months' use, so it is better to use a specially made tank; in any event, the tank must be provided with a screw cap, fitted with a gasket, so that it will be airtight. The tubes are then soldered or brazed to the tank as shown in the drawing, and the tank filled with oil.

The oil will flow out of the tank into the crankcase until the oil level reaches the upper tube opening. When it covers the tube no more air can get up to the tank, and the oil ceases to flow. As soon as sufficient oil has been used to uncover the end of the upper tube again, a bubble of air passes up the tube, and a corresponding quantity of oil comes down the other tube. This continues automatically until the oil in the tank is used up. The system may be improved by the addition of a float gauge, which may be purchased anywhere; when the gauge shows the least drop in height, it indicates that the tank is empty.

This system has been in use for over a year, and I would not be without it, as it eliminates much of the time spent in "oiling up."—John A. Blaker, West Auburn, Mass., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

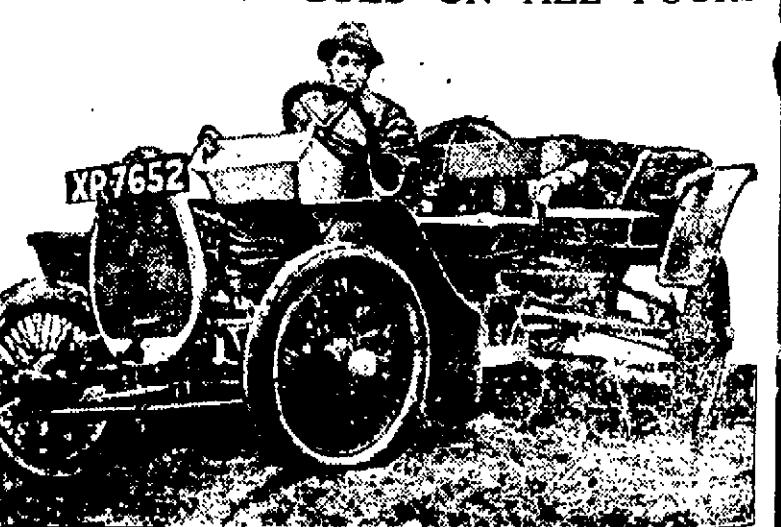

Right Plan to Keep Tires Well Inflated

A tire will be less durable and of shorter life if used underinflated because of the friction and loosening effect upon it caused by the tire bending farther at its flexing points than is intended. This increased bending, particularly at the tire's side walls, will tend to loosen the rubber from the fabric beneath, and may even separate the various layers of fabric if underinflation is continued. Also there are more chances of the tire being punctured, as a wider surface is in contact with the road.

Smith for More Consolidation

Asks Legislature to Authorize Consolidation of Nearly 80 Bureaus and Departments Into 21.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 5.—Governor Smith's recommendations for further consolidations of bureaus and commissions in the state's government, in all probability will be rejected by the Republican majority in the assembly, it was declared at the capitol today.

In a special message submitted to the lawmakers last night, the governor urged that seven commissions and bureaus be abolished and that all of these bureaus and commissions be consolidated into 21 main departments. At present there are between 70 and 80 of these bureaus in the state's government.

By consolidating all the minor bureaus under 21 main divisions, and abolishing others, the governor claims the state could be saved thousands of dollars annually.

In his talk with newspapermen the governor often has drawn a vivid word picture of how easy it would be to conduct the affairs of state, compared with the manner in which they are now conducted, if the chief executive could sit down around a table with 21 department heads. Each of these men would be held directly responsible to the governor for the conduct of his particular department.

The bureaus and commissions which the governor would abolish are: Motion picture, port wardens, harbor masters, miscellaneous reporter, state board of equalization, commission to examine voting machine and state advisory board in relation to agricultural education and country life advancement.

"The motion picture commission

Two or three cold sandwiches and a still colder apple don't make much of an appeal in the youngster's lunch box; that's why the hot school lunch is growing in popularity.

Can go out of existence without anyone feeling its loss," the governor said. "It should be abolished."

At present there are 35 boards and park commissions. The governor would consolidate all of these under a state park council. It is barely possible that the Republican assembly may approve of this plan.

The governor would transfer the duties of 14 boards relating to the state's bond to the state education department.

Items That Are Income Tax Free

Not infrequently taxpayers include in their income tax returns items that are specifically exempt from taxation. Among these are the following:

Proceeds of life insurance policies paid upon the death of the insured. The value of property acquired by gift, bequest, devise or descent. The income from such property, however, is taxable.

Returns of premiums on life insurance, endowment, or annuity contracts. Amounts received through accident or health insurance, or under workmen's compensation acts for the personal injuries or sickness, plus the amount of damages received, whether by suit or agreement, on account of such injuries or sickness.

Amounts received as compensation, family allowances and allowances under the provisions of the war risk insurance and the vocational rehabilitation acts. Pensions from the United States for the services of the beneficiary or another in the military or naval service in time of war.

A bonus paid by a state to its residents who served in the military or naval services during the war with Germany.

Allowance, whether paid by the government or a person to one who performed no duties, as, for example, to a widow in recognition of the services rendered by her husband, are considered gratuities, or gifts, and are not taxable. The rental value of a dwelling and appurtenances thereof furnished a minister of the gospel as part of his compensation is exempt from taxation.

Dividends or interest, not in excess of $300 received by individuals during the years 1922 to 1926, inclusive, from domestic building and loan associations, operated exclusively for the purpose of making loans to its members, are exempt from tax.

Salaries paid by a state to its officers or employees.

Tax free income need not be included in gross income, nor need it be mentioned in an income tax return.

Taxpayers who prepare and file their income tax returns for the year 1923 early have a decided advantage over procrastinators. A little time and thought now in the preparation of a return is excellent insurance against errors, which result to the detriment of taxpayer and government alike.

The filing period ends at midnight March 15, 1924.

LUTHERANS ASK AID IN FEEDING GERMAN POOR

An extensive chain of "church free tables," a new plan hitherto unknown in relief circles, is being established in the larger cities of Germany by the American National Lutheran Council, 437 Fifth avenue, New York city, as rapidly as food can be shipped. Overhead expenses of maintaining these tables will be shared by a large group of factory owners in Germany with whom the council has been negotiating. Not to be outdone by their fellows, a group of large land owners, whose farms have a surplus of certain foods, which dare not be sold for lack of a suitable currency, have agreed to furnish approximately two-fifths of the food required, while the National Lutheran Council ships from America the other three-fifths, or such larger portion as may be needed. Dr. John A. Morehead, executive director of the National Lutheran Council, and for four years the head of its European Commission, has been dissatisfied with the idea of distributing food through the establishment of child feeding stations and soup kitchens alone, on the ground that it is not beneficial to family life for individuals to be singled out for special attention, near to the church and the community where they are established.

Ten thousand seats daily are required in the cities now, and before the winter is over it is estimated hundreds of thousands will be in demand. These must be maintained at a cost to the National Lutheran Council of $1.05 per person per week, an immediate need of more than $10,000 weekly for this phase of relief alone. The council, through its New York headquarters office has appealed to all Christian people of America to aid it to the extent of $1,500,000 in this undertaking.

EVERYTHING FREE AT FARMERS' WEEK.

Public Invited to Attend All Sessions And to Enjoy Entertainment.

The lectures, demonstrations, conferences and other features of farmers' week at the state college at Ithaca are free and open for the benefit of every farmer and farm woman in New York state. The only exception to this is the students' play, or Kermis, on Friday night, February 15, at which a nominal admission is charged.

The play is written and presented by students and the small admission fee goes for the benefit of student activities in the college of agriculture.

Other student meetings, such as the Eastman prize speaking contest, are presented without cost.

In addition, motion picture films are shown every day. Even on the night of the student play, other entertainment and lecture features are provided free for those who may not wish to see the Kermis. Other entertainment features include interpretive readings with music, illustrated lectures, and a concert by the Cornell University orchestra.

Special rates to farmers' week are being offered on several railroads; it is suggested that those who contemplate visiting the state college at this time will do well to make inquiry of their local station agents.

Invest for Safety and Community Development

The gradual building up of a unified electric power system in the Central Hudson Valley is being followed with deep interest by public spirited citizens as well as investors.

They recognize its importance to industrial development and to community progress. The project appeals to the business sense as well as to the imagination of the public.

The fact that thousands of people have been made familiar with the extent of the steel tower transmission lines, and have gone out of their way to inspect the substations and the steam and water power generating plants of this system, is tangible evidence of the widespread interest it has attracted.

The further development of the project will be made possible by the purchase of the Honk Falls Power Company and other important properties to be added. To finance these we are offering First Mortgage 6% Gold Bonds.

Full details of this offering may be had at any of the local offices of the Central Hudson System of gas and electric companies.

TAKE SALTS IF STOMACH ISN'T ACTING RIGHT

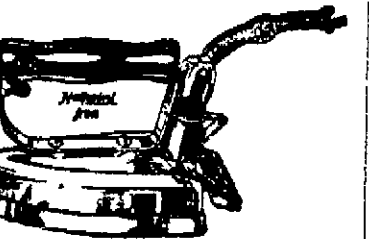

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Indigestion food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments, the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink it while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to help neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mucus, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used for many stomach disorders with excellent results.

A FLUFFY FROCK FOR THE VALENTINE PARTY

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

Just the frock to wear to the Valentine party is the one presented here. It has the tiered effect which is one of the most fascinating features of a season which boasts of many, and is made of pleated net dating it 1924, if ever anything does.

That the lady wears many bracelets is a noteworthy feature, and also that she affects pendant earrings, for both these things are popular as in the corsage which may be gardenias or orchids. That she elects to be minus a necklace is unimportant.

From an importer of costume jewelry who has come from Paris, the Mecca of luxuries, we learn that following in the wake of the choker necklace, which has had such a tremendous fashion during the past season, the newest development is the festoon choker, which has been introduced by the French. These chokers are three strands deep, usually with the central strand of beads contrasting in color with the other two.

The fancy head is the thing, such as the cube, melon, square, olive, oh-long and the like. Necklaces run about 40 inches in length, as an average, or they end to the festoon choker type, since the chemise dress has every indication of staying in fashion.

Bracelets are being worn a new way in Paris, for with the long sleeve sometimes as many as 20 are used together. It is said that there are more of the flexible types used than the hoop effect. These set with metal and stones are most effective. Hat ornaments are in demand, it is remarked, and all sorts of jangling effects are stressed, many fob types being shown and all the ornaments highly decorative. Fobs are to be quite a fad, especially those made of rhinestones, marcasite or galalith. Everything in rhinestones, of course, is featured very prominently for the new season.

Earrings are still to be a feature, but it said that the tassel type is a thing of the past in Paris, and everything now tends to the pendant. Although little has been done regarding button earrings in this country, this mode is developing in Paris, and it remains to be seen whether they will have any prominence here for the new season, at least.

U. S. Fourth at Chamonix

In Winter Section of Olympic Games—Gets But 20 Points to Norway's 134½—Hockey Players Out of Training.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chamonix, France, Feb. 5.—The winter contests of the Olympic games ended today with elaborate ceremonies. Baron Reeboubertin, president of the International Olympic Committee, was presented with a number of diplomatic medals. The occasion was marred somewhat by the absence of many of the most important contestants who had already left for home to take part in winter sports.

The United States made a poor showing, getting fourth place with a total of 29 points. This was as big a surprise as the Norwegian contestants got 134½ points out of a possible 321 or more than one third.

Charles Jewtraw and Beatrice Loughran were the best point getters on the American team, gathering 15 between them.

The greatest disappointment was the poor showing the United States hockey team made. The members explained that they lacked practice but trained hockey players here expressed belief that the Americans lack conscientious training.

To Sign Tangier Accord.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Madrid, Feb. 5.—The Directory issued a communique indicating that concessions had been made by France and England which will lead to the immediate signing of the Tangier (Morocco) accord.

Although there is nothing definite with regards to the line-up Dahn has in his mind a team and hopes to have the following men on the team this season: Wally Wolfe, Rubo Forsyth and Fred Rossback, pitchers; Tom McCarthy, catcher; Tom McCombs, third base; Swat Russell, shortstop; Jimmy Tedford, second base; Nell Dewey or Jim Carroll, first base; Dahn, left field; Red Mullaney, center field; and Eddie Phalen, right field. Other players are also under consideration.

Dahn playing with the Colonials last season was one of the leading hitters. Dahn is well liked in baseball circles in the valley and it is expected that Poughkeepsie will enjoy a successful season under his management.

STIFF OPPOSITION FOR THE CHICHESTER QUINTETS

On Saturday evening two games of basketball will be played in the Social Hall, at Chichester. The preliminary game will be between the Allahen, Juniors and the "Chichester first team will have for its opponents the fast Tannersville Quintet. After the games Foster's orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

Farmer's Woodlot.

Fred Dahn to Manage Red Sox

Former Colonial Player Will Manage Poughkeepsie Nine—Replaces Sheekard and Is Expected to Make Good—His Tentative Line-up.

Fred Dahn was on Monday named manager of the Poughkeepsie Red Sox and will lead the team on the field during the 1924 season. The announcement came following another statement that Freddie Wetmore is likely to notify the Red Sox moguls that he will join forces with them for this season. Dahn's appointment was expected as it has been known that the Poughkeepsie player was offered the post several months ago and it was not until Monday that the player decided that he would take the job.

Declaring that he owes much of his success to the Poughkeepsie fans Dahn said that he wanted to play in Poughkeepsie this year but declared that he was treated royally in Kingston. The former Bonacker manager has also been working on the proposition to bring Wetmore and Joy together and today admitted that his plans are liable to be successful, but Mr. Wetmore has not made his final decision as yet for Poughkeepsie to have but one team.

Dahn is of the opinion that Poughkeepsie can only have one good club and after a careful survey of the local baseball situation he decided to cast his lot with the Red Sox management and will hope to sign Fred Wetmore up as one of the partners in the business within the next two days.

Although there is nothing definite with regards to the line-up Dahn has in his mind a team and hopes to have the following men on the team this season: Wally Wolfe, Rubo Forsyth and Fred Rossback, pitchers; Tom McCarthy, catcher; Tom McCombs, third base; Swat Russell, shortstop; Jimmy Tedford, second base; Nell Dewey or Jim Carroll, first base; Dahn, left field; Red Mullaney, center field; and Eddie Phalen, right field. Other players are also under consideration.

Dahn playing with the Colonials last season was one of the leading hitters. Dahn is well liked in baseball circles in the valley and it is expected that Poughkeepsie will enjoy a successful season under his management.

Teeth Stains Removed—For Few Cents!

No More Yellow Teeth—New Discovery Whitens Teeth Instantly.

A new harmless treatment has been discovered which—often in only three minutes—gives dull, yellowish teeth a beautiful pearly whiteness. This new treatment, called Bleachodont Combination, consists of a liquid or powder which should be applied, and only a safe mild cleanser like Bleachodont Combination, which bleaches out stains but has no effect on the enamel, should be used. Bleachodont Combination does not affect enamel as its safe ingredients are intended to act only on the cause of the teeth stains—a substance called "tannin" which collects on teeth and forms a hard coating of stain. Get Bleachodont Combination today for just a few cents at all good drug and department stores such as:
